

The cats that inspired me

A MAN has published a book of children's stories based on cats his family has owned.

John Staley, of St Ann's Road, Malvern, first penned the stories to read to his grandchildren, and has now had them published by Aspect Design of Malvern.

The book, Three Cat Tales, tells the stories of Juniper, the snuggling cat; Morrisand, the vomiting cat, and Ferdi, the sleeping cat.

He said: "Two were cats we owned in Malvern and the other was a cat we had when we lived in India."

Mr Staley, in his mid-70s, said: "I had written stories years ago when our children were young and these were written for our grandchildren."

The book has been illustrated by Liz O'Sullivan, who lives in Tewkesbury. He said: "I was delighted with her pictures."

The book costs £6 from Aspect, Newtown Road; Malvern Book Co-op, St Ann's Road; Ledbury Books and Maps, High Street, Ledbury.

MOGGY MAYHEM: Author John Staley with the illustrated book of three cat stories written for his grandchildren.

PHILIP SERRELL
auctioneers & valuers

NEW YEAR SALE
THURSDAY 9TH JANUARY 2014

BOILER REPLACEMENT FULL CENTRAL HEATING

Boiler upgrades/replacement
New central heating installation
Gas fires servicing
Gas boiler servicing

WHY CHOOSE US?

- We offer fixed price quotations
- FREE quotations & advice